To appear well is not necessarily to practice extravagance.—The ladies of Carson can all acknowledge that the prevailing low prices, of Olcovich Bros., Summer fabrics, is one reason why they find it to their advantage to buy their dry goods of that well-known firm. For anything in the shoe line call at Olcovich Bros. j8

The Confession

A rumor, says the Elko Independent, was prevalent on the streets last evening that Mrs. Potts had left a "confession" with her attorney, Mr. Plummer. There is no truth whatever in the report. Mrs. Potts did leave a statement with Mr. Plummer, dated Elko, June 7, 1890, which we have read and which is nothing more than a repetition of her testimony at the trial. The statement in question recapitulates the evidence then given, with which the public is familiar, reiterates the assertion that these are the true facts in the case, and closes with this remarkable statement:

"So this is what we have to die for; not for murder, but for being fools that did not know anything about the wickedness of the world, and has to suffer death for concealing that old Fiend's body."

Under date of Elko, June 6, 1890, Mrs. Potts wrote: Please respect my last wishes.

"Lizzie Atherton was my name, England was my Nation; Manchester was my dwelling place, Christ was salvation."

A LIBEL SUIT THREATENED.—Mrs. C. J. Booth, owner of the Austin Reveille, has been served with a notice by the attorney of the Manhattan company threatening unless she discharges her agent and editor, G. A. Carpenter, that the company will commence a libel suit against the paper for $25,000. The Superintendent in his letter claims that the management of the affairs of the company has been misrepresented by that paper to the detriment and damage of the interests of the stockholders.

The above at this distance looks like a piece of intolerable bulldozing, and the APPEAL's advice to Mrs. Booth is to tell the Manhattan corporation to sue at its earliest convenience.

FIRST-GRADE CERTIFICATES.—The following is a list of pupils who received first-grade certificates from the County Board of Examiners: Tracy Barnes, Lottie Barkley, Wm. Likens, Edith Howe, Ruth Billings, Emma Brulin, Eva McLaskey, Amy Lloyd, Annie Alley, Minnie Mills, Franklia Kilday, Sybil Simpson, Ella Thorne, Josephine Bruling, Alice Tobriner, and Bertie Thaxter.

No woman looks really captivating without a bonnet that is harmonious in color and the latest style. Mrs. Knowles can produce such a bonnet at very short notice.

RYE AND ALFALFA.—The APPEAL

will guarantee to anyone who will take the pains to try it, that rye and alfalfa can be raised in this State without water anywhere that sagebrush will grow. Rye planted in the Fall will grow four feet high without a drop of artificial irrigation, and so will alfalfa if it is planted in the right soil. Alfalfa is regarded as a plant that needs very extensive irrigation, but as a matter of fact the further you get, alfalfa from wet land the better it will grow. Wet land is generally found in depressions where the water collects, and the depth of the soil to hard pan is not over a foot or two. The alfalfa will grow vigorously in this soil for a year, but there is too much water in such soil in the Winter, and the roots freeze out, killing the plant. Now, plant your alfalfa higher up on the hill where the soil is, say, 25 feet to hard pan, and the alfalfa will grow four or six inches the first year in the Spring, and die down with the heat of July and August. But the roots do not die; they keep going down for moisture, and the second year the plant is up a foot high, turns yellow in July and dies down again. By the third year the roots have gone down fifteen or twenty feet, and the plant then gets three or four feet high, and is ready for the cutter. It will never die out after this, but spread from the roots and give the owner one crop a year. Instances have been known in this State where well diggers have traced alfalfa roots down fifty feet to water. It is obvious that a plant with such a root will not die of drouth. Mr. Parkinson of the Land and Cattle Company planted 500 acres in alfalfa in Humboldt county and there is a ten acre patch that was too high to be reached with water. It was a failure the first two years, but now is regarded as the best part of the field. Whenever you have good sage brush land in Nevada with a depth of say fifteen or twenty feet of soil alfalfa will grow without water and rye will grow the same way on any soil not too strongly impregnated with alkali.

SUBSCRIBING AND ADVERTISING.—Every established newspaper receives subscriptions from large cities which puzzle the publishers to account for, but the New York Times lately threw some light upon this matter: "A wholesale grocer in this city, who has become rich at the business, says his rule is that when he sells a bill of goods on credit to immediately subscribe for the local paper of his debtor. So long as his customer advertised liberally he rested, but as soon as he began to contract his advertising space, he took the fact as evidence that there was trouble ahead and invariably went for the debtor." Said he: "The man who is too poor to make his business known is too poor to do business. The withdrawal of an advertisement is evidence of weakness that business men are not slow to act upon. There's nothing like it."

HELD BY THE ENEMY.—Mr. W. Gillette's play has the advantage of being, not only a drama of great strength and of absorbing interest, but to be abundantly supplied with comedy of a rare order of excellence. Through all the pathos, sentiment and romance, with now and then the dark shadows of tragedy, there run like a silver thread, a vein of bubbling, exquisite comedy. The laughable situations are not lugged in, but come about spontaneously and naturally with the development of the story of the play. The finale of the fourth act, where an attempt is made to smuggle a prisoner of war out of the army hospital, where he is under sentence of death, has no superior in strength in all the realm of the American drama, and is made of most thrilling and deeply interesting situations.

THE STREETER CASE.—The Elko Independent takes exceptions to the statements made by Streeter who was convicted of incest in Elko County. The APPEAL does not vouch for the truth of the article, but only gave them as the statement of Streeter made since his arrival at the penitentiary.

COAST NEWS.

The Salt Lake papers say that city will have a population of 100,000 by the close of this year.

The United States District Court at Seattle is now engaged in prosecuting Herbert F. Beecher on indictments and embezzlement.

Ben Braunhart killed himself at San Bernardino Monday. He had become insane over family troubles and business reverses.

Mott, Siskiyou county, is about ten miles from Mount Shasta, and the people there have discovered no change in the appearance of the peaks.

The entire business portion of Cerrillos, N. M., fifty miles North of Albuquerque was destroyed by fire Monday. The loss will probably reach $100,000.

A decision of Judge Fitzpatrick at Redwood City Monday, in a case against San Jose, maintains the rights of courts to inquire into the action of city councils.

Secretary Nichols of the Sacramento Board of Health denies that there is a white leper in the city, or that he has had communications with any San Francisco parties, as stated in a morning journal.

J. F. Williams, an old miner, is in Albuquerque, Cal. He characterizes the story of the Adams diggings, which several times has been revived in Arizona and New Mexico, creating a great deal of excitement, as a myth.

Sunday evening a pitched battle occurred at one of the canneries on the Braser river, B. C., between Japanese and Chinese, the latter being jealous of Japs being employed as fishermen and cannery men. The Japs were victorious in the end.

During the absence of the manager of the Gebhardt-Langtry farm near Middleton, Cal., a number of the employees became intoxicated, and in a quarrel an Indian was shot by a groom they called Frenchy. Two arrests have been made. The Indian will recover.

A street-car driver named McKee at Stockton has sued the Street Railroad Company for $12,600, which he claims is due him for overwork, according to a section of the code, which provides heavy forfeitures for compelling a man to do more than 12 hours work per day.

A party of section hands, eight in all, while on their way to Soledad Canyon on Monday to work on a bridge, while on a high trestle, discovered a train bearing down upon them, and in their fright they jumped from the trestle, a distance of 50 feet. The train stopped before the hand-car was reached. Four of the men were badly injured, and three will probably die.

The entrances for the trotting races on the speed programme of the State Agricultural Association will close August 1st instead of September 1st as heretofore announced.

WHAT ON EARTH.—Is the reason people will not, cannot, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGG'S BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work, will cost you nothing.—W. H. Chedie Druggist.

COUGH! AND COUGH! AND COUGH!—What in the world is the reason you will cough and keep coughing and still keep trying inferior medicines when BEGG'S CHERRY COUGH SYRUP will positively relieve your cough at once? This is no advertising scheme, but an actual fact, and we guarantee it. W. H. Chedie, Druggist.

HOW CAN PARENTS—Allow their children to cough and calmly say: "Oh! its only a little cold," and keep giving them cheap medicines, until they are down with lung fever or consumption, when they can be so easily relieved by using BEGG'S CHERRY COUGH SYRUP? It has no superior and few equals. W. H. Chedie, Druggist.

ICE.—Doc Benton is now offering a very superior quality of ice for sale, delivered to any part or the city. It is the best ice harvested for years in this section. m8
